One side of this heavy-duty screen features a panoramic view of investigators out in the field, exploring strange and enormous sculptures. The other side includes the essential tables, states of sanity, order of play, and other rules references to speed game play and keep secret from the players the diabolical machinations of the keeper.

This pack also includes a 22x34" poster by the mad french artists Christian Grussi and El Théo, postulating relationships between the deities and minions of the Cthulhu Mythos.
